INFERENCE STATISTICS

Inferential statistics is concerned with making_inference (judgment) regarding the unknown aspects of distribution of the population or value of the parameters involved in the population based on the samples taken from it.

The process of acquiring unknown information from what is known is called inference.

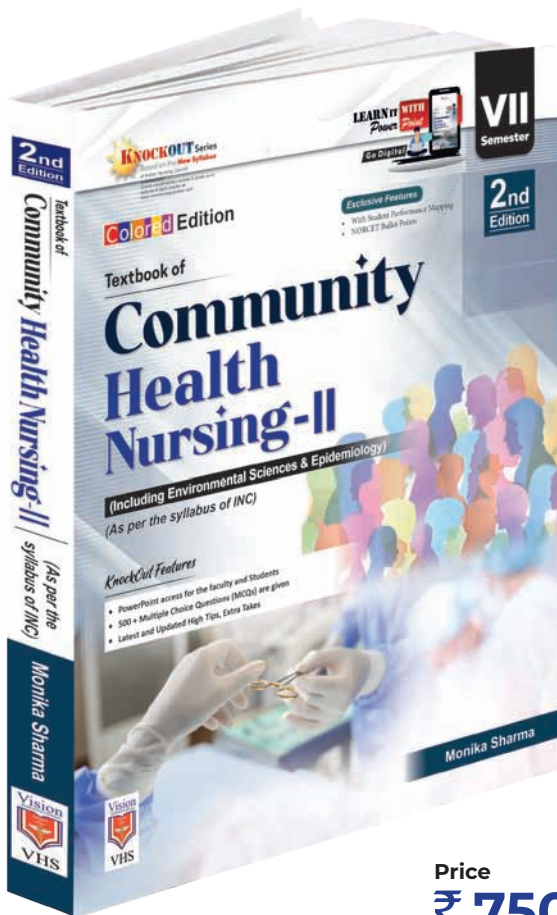

It is the attempt to reach a statistically valid conclusion concerning entire population by the samples.

Words from Our Authors

Hear what renowned authors have to say about working with VisionHealthSciencePublisher.

90

"It gives me immense satisfaction to contribute to Vision Health Sciences Publishers through my books on Nursing Foundation and Adult Health Nursing. My aim has always been to simplify complex clinical concepts and align them with INC syllabus requirements. This platform truly supports evidence-based learning and helps students build strong conceptual clarity along with practical understanding. I am proud to be associated with a publisher that prioritizes quality, accuracy, and student success!"

Dr. Jyoti Kathwal
Author - Nursing Foundation & Adult Health Nursing

90

"Writing for Vision Health Sciences Publishers has been a meaningful journey. My DDD Nursing books are designed to bridge theory with real clinical applications, ensuring students feel confident in maternal and neonatal care. The editorial vision of this organization ensures that every chapter is structured, exam-oriented, and clinically relevant. I am honored to contribute to shaping future nursing professionals!"

Dr. Ramandeep Kaur
Author - Obstetrics & Gynecology Nursing

90

"Community Health Nursing is the backbone of preventive healthcare, and through Vision Health Sciences Publishers, I have been able to present this subject in a simplified and practical manner. The organization's commitment to structured content, updated guidelines, and student-friendly presentation makes it a reliable academic partner. I am delighted to be part of a mission that empowers nursing students to serve communities with competence and compassion!"
